

CAHON's 2023 Award Winners

The Chinese American Hematologist and Oncologist Network (CAHON) Board of Directors, is pleased to announce the winners of CAHON's 2023 Lifetime Achievement and Outstanding Service Awards. Since 2015, CAHON has recognized not only individuals who have made significant contributions to the field of hematology and oncology, but also to those who have made a significant impact on CAHON's development and mission.

CAHON's 2023 Lifetime Achievement Award Winner

We are delighted to announce that Dr. Delong Liu has been honored with a prestigious Lifetime Achievement Award in recognition of his exceptional contributions to the field of Hematology and Oncology.

Dr. Liu specializes in and conducts clinical research, with a primary focus on providing exemplary care to patients diagnosed with hematologic malignancies. He completed his residency training at Albert Einstein College of Medicine and earned his PhD in oncogenesis at Mt. Sinai Medical Center. Following this, he successfully completed his hematology and oncology fellowship training at MSKCC in New York. Currently, Dr. Liu holds the distinguished position of Professor of Medicine at New York Medical College.

With an illustrious career marked by pioneering breakthroughs, Dr. Liu is renowned for his groundbreaking mini-transplant chemotherapy regimen, designed to mitigate treatment-related side effects. Moreover, he leads multiple clinical trials related to leukemia, lymphoma, myeloma, and bone marrow transplantation. His dedication extends to developing laboratory techniques for studying blood stem cells, leukemia, myeloma cells, and characterizing new chemotherapeutic agents.

Dr. Liu's impressive portfolio boasts over 100 publications on these vital subjects, underscoring his commitment to advancing medical knowledge. He is a sought-after lecturer, sharing his research findings both domestically and on the international stage. As a testament to his expertise and leadership, he has been at the helm as Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of Hematology & Oncology since its inception and remains a valuable member of the editorial boards of several other prestigious journals. Notably, he is the founding President of CAHON and the architect of New York Oncology Forum (NYOF) and continues to serve as the primary organizer of NYOF.

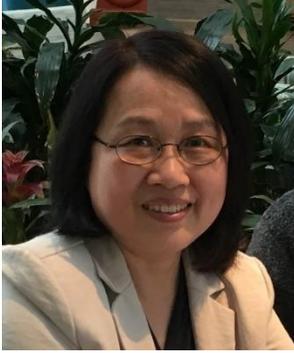

This award is a well-deserved recognition of Dr. Liu's profound and enduring contributions to the field of Hematology and Oncology, and we extend our heartfelt congratulations to him.
