Dear CAHON members:

With the support from CAHON and other organizations, the American Association for Cancer Research (AACR) held their first historic event “The New Horizons in Cancer Research Conference: Harnessing Breakthroughs-Targeting Cures” in China last year. CAHON is so proud to be part of the event!

This year, AACR is going to have the second edition of the New Horizons in Cancer Research Conference Series in China, which will be held in Shanghai from November 12 to November 15, 2015. The meeting will serve as a dynamic platform for the advancement of cancer science and medicine, and for the establishment of new collaborations on an international scale. The multidisciplinary program will cover the entire cancer research spectrum – from basic to translational to clinical – drawing on the latest findings presented at the AACR Annual Meeting 2015 in Philadelphia, April 18-22. The meeting will feature talks from an outstanding roster of international speakers and local experts.

CAHON is continuing its commitment to support the event, strengthen the collaboration between AACR and CAHON, and facilitate the communication and the development of cancer research, education and treatment between China and the States.

We are calling for CAHON members to be actively involved with the event, and promote it to your colleagues here and to your Chinese colleagues. Attached is the link of the meeting information and registration
